

No Public Service for Eddie Cantor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Cantor will be buried as he spent most of the last 11 years of his life — apart from the public that made him a top star during a golden era of American entertainment.

Grönman Mortuary announced today that funeral services for the 72-year-old comedian, who died of a heart attack Saturday night, will be private.

Cantor was the last of a trio of great comedy figures to pass from the Hollywood scene in recent weeks. Gracie Allen of the Burns and Allen team died Aug. 27, and Harpo Marx of the Marx Brothers succumbed two weeks ago.

Cantor died at his Beverly Hills home. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Natalie Metzger and Mrs. Edna McHugh, were at his bedside. Two other daughters, Marilyn Cantor and Mrs. Janet Gail, live in New York. A fifth daughter, Marjorie, who had been the comedian's secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959.

Cantor was born Edward Iskowitz in New York City Jan. 31, 1892. He came out of the slums with a vitality that soon captured audiences wherever he performed. A small man, he possessed enormous energy.

"If you knew Suzie," he chanted to the audience, tapping his palms together.

"We're making whoopee," he sang, with a roll of his immense bawdy-eyes that were expressive without being offensive.

"I'd love to spend this hour with you," he sang to radio audiences across the nation.

Two generations became acquainted with the high-pitched voice, the crisp gag line.

With his death, Cantor's great efforts for human causes were remembered. He raised staggering amounts for war bonds during the first and second World Wars, the Heart Fund, Bonds for Israel and other causes.

Cantor's career spanned the years from amateur night in the Bowery to burlesque to vaudeville to the Ziegfeld Follies to movies, radio and television.

In 1955, when Cantor was establishing himself in the new medium of television, he suffered a heart attack. That brought an end to his career as an active performer.

In 1957, his wife, Ida, died of a heart ailment.

saw these features of Las Vegas life since his route to and from his quarters was remote from the bustling casino.

The President flew to Nevada after a Sunday that saw him go to church — "The first day of the week belongs to God" — in Goldwater's hometown of Phoenix, Ariz. Later, he did some speechmaking, which wasn't exactly nonpolitical, in Long Beach and San Francisco, Calif.

Big crowds were the rule along the way, especially in the Long Beach area, where the curbside throng probably was as large as any Johnson has seen during the campaign.

But if the President saw more people, he also saw more Goldwater signs. There were more in Long Beach alone than in all the other cities Johnson has visited on his vote-seeking travels.

During Johnson's formal speech a few miles from Long Beach, Goldwater partisans tried to blot out his words with "We want Barry" chants. But

The Phoenix crowd was a big one, too, and Johnson had an intimate encounter with a Goldwater placard. One held by a young man struck his hat. Johnson said it was an accident. Some other witnesses weren't sure.

Two anonymous telephone calls warning that the President's life was in danger kept Secret Service men watchful during his visit to the Long Beach area.

All through the West, Johnson has talked about keeping the peace, maintaining prosperity, showing compassion in social programs, and promoting frugality in government.

"NETWORK TROUBLE. Oh, good! Now we can talk!"

"DEAR ABBY"

SHE WAS A MISS-TAKE!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am a college freshman. I drew a girl's name for the freshman mixer. When I called for her at her dorm I was pleased to find a nice-looking girl with a friendly personality. After one dance she suggested we go somewhere and "talk." We spoke hardly ten minutes when she was all over me. I spent most of the evening trying to talk her out of what she was trying to talk me into. Abby, I want to be pure for the girl I marry, but if this one is any example of what I have to put up with, I am going to have some fight on my hands. How can a fellow act like a gentleman with college girls without getting the reputation for being a square or cold fish?

SAVING MYSELF

Dear Abby: Don't identify all college girls with the miss you got mixed up with at the mixer. Hang on to your gentlemanly instincts and your reputation will take care of itself.

Dear Abby: I just read the letter from the lady whose husband keeps his first wife's picture on his dresser. There must be lots of us. I have been a second wife for 12 years, and I can sympathize with her. My husband still carries his first wife's picture in his wallet. (None of me.) He named OUR son after his first wife's father. He also has moved a cardboard carton of her love letters around with us every time we've moved. Why don't men who just can't love again hire a housekeeper and leave women who need love and affection alone? Please print this. My husband reads your column. I think I have taken enough punishment for a loss I had nothing to do with.

Dear Abby: I have a friend with whom I went all through school. I shall call her Mary. Mary has many good qualities, but she doesn't make friends easily. I believe I am her only friend. A few months ago I became acquainted with another girl. I will call her June. June is a very likeable person and has many friends. Mary let me know that she did not care for June, but I didn't see what that had to do with me. Now Mary has told me that if I don't give up June's friendship, she and I can't be friends any more. I like them both, Abby, but don't want to make a choice. We are not kids. We are all young married women. What would YOU do if faced with such a choice?

Dear Abby: I'd choose June. No one has the right to dictate who your other friends shall be.

Confidential To Big Brown Eyes: Yes, some women have husbands who cheat and lie. Yours confesses to you, which means he only cheats. Big deal! You're only half-safe!

In Behalf of Dogs

Editor The Star: I am late in writing this letter for Skippy, but maybe it will be in time to help save the lives of some pets of other children here in Hope.

When I went out in the backyard late this afternoon, Skippy was lying on the grass as I had seen him so many times. When I noticed that he did not wag his tail or turn his head toward me, I called to him, but he lay still. I walked over to him and could hardly believe that he was really dead.

I slipped back into the house to tell Gracie and he came out and looked at Skippy, and we both agreed from all indications he had been poisoned. We were reluctant to do so, but we had to break the sad news to the boys. Oh, they could hardly believe it, and only cried, "Why?"

The boys had been very disturbed back in the spring, when they had heard of other dogs being poisoned in our neighborhood. We discussed with others who agreed that we should have a city ordinance in Hope in which all dog owners would be required to keep their dogs on a leash or in a pen. Of course most of us fail to keep our dogs penned up, when others run loose. We neglected to work toward getting the ordinance for our city, and now it's too late for Skippy.

I am writing this letter with the hope that others who do have dogs they truly care for, will work towards getting an ordinance passed to protect them. And don't you agree that it would make our nice little city an even nicer place in which to live?

Goldwater and His Issues in Campaign

An AP News Analysis By JACK BELL

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona heads into the final three weeks of campaigning still thwarted in efforts to dramatize the back-to-the-Constitution stand he calls the overriding issue in the presidential contest.

In wide-ranging attacks on President Johnson in his coast-to-coast journeys, the Republican presidential nominee has tried out a variety of approaches to the voters with results that do not seem to have satisfied him fully.

He has assailed the President for promoting coexistence with the Communists. He has argued with administration officials over the reliability, deliverability and control of nuclear weapons.

Goldwater has pictured himself as a champion of Social Security while condemning the Johnson proposal for tax-financed health care for the elderly. He has called for a five per cent annual reduction in income taxes, promising at the same time to balance the budget.

He has charged the President with "reckless spending" and mocked Johnson as a man who carries a "shopping list" from which he invites voters to select their benefits.

Goldwater has called for a "return of morality" to the White House. He has sparked some of his loudest applause by jibing at Johnson's former association with Bobby Baker and asserting that "the shadow of scandal falls across the White House itself."

While he generally has avoided direct statements on civil rights, he told rallies in the prosperous suburbs of Philadelphia — where the so-called white backlash is presumed to exist — that minorities are running the government under Johnson. He has inveighed against crime in the streets.

These issues have been offered singly and in groups, with careful checks made of the reaction to each. Judging from the "scattergun" approach the GOP nominee still is using, none has showed up as a sockwaller by itself.

Goldwater keeps coming back to the constitutional issue of "what kind of a country are we going to have tomorrow?" He charges that Johnson has embraced socialism, which he described in Lubbock, Tex., as "not evil" although highly undesirable.

He told an opulent audience at the World Affairs Council in Los Angeles that the people don't want a paternalistic government such as he said Johnson is conducting.

The crowd gave him a big hand when he said he wants to "go back to the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence."

There is some rather widespread feeling among his advisers that if Goldwater had stuck closely to the conservative vs. liberal theme from the beginning, he might have made more headway in efforts to unify his own party and to chip away conservative Democrats from Johnson. A number of associates wish that such matters as the control of nuclear weapons hadn't been brought up at all.

See! This really is unbeaten Ohio State's year to pass! Why, Coach Woody Hayes doesn't even get air sick anymore when one of his quarterbacks cocks an arm.

Sharpshooter Don Unverferth is Hayes Exhibit A in his defense against charges of ultra-conservatism. A nationwide television audience can serve as jury Saturday when the Buckeye Big Ten leaders play host to Southern California in an inter-sectional test.

With judicious use of the forward pass, the option threat of the Unverferth rollout and the play execution which has become a Hayes trademark, fourth-ranked Ohio State stunned Illinois' No. 2 forces 26-0 in the big conference showdown this past weekend.

The Bucks threw for more yards than they ran, 130-116, with two completions going to tackle-eligible Jim Davidson. And this is the team where it was once rumored a pass call in the huddle was punishable by benching.

With Ohio State an exception, most football powers get down to grass-roots campaigning this week led by top-ranked Texas, which faces ninth-ranked Arkansas. If the Longhorns are to be tackled short of a second straight national title, the Razorbacks are given the best chance to do it.

Texas beat Oklahoma 28-7 for its 15th straight victory while Arkansas downed Baylor 17-6. Illinois' Rose Bowl champions have a must date with Minnesota, seventh-ranked Michigan is visited by rugged Purdue and surprising Iowa invades Wisconsin in the Big Ten this week.

Alabama, voted third in the most recent poll, knocked off previously unbeaten North Carolina State 21-0 with a little help from ailing Joe Namath, and now takes its 3-0 SEC mark against defensively tough Tennessee. Georgia Tech comes off its conquest of Navy to tangle with Auburn, which is minus the services of All-America quarterback Jimmy Siddle due to a dislocated shoulder.

Undefeated LSU visits fifth-ranked Kentucky, picking up the pieces from its 48-6 pasting from Florida State. After handing Ole Miss its second SEC defeat, 30-14, Florida takes on South Carolina.

Other headline conference games list North Carolina State at Duke for the Atlantic Coast lead and West Virginia at Virginia Tech in the Southern.

Syracuse bombed UCLA out of the undefeated-untied class 39-0, stopping national total offense leader Larry Zeno cold. Next for the Orange: Penn State.

Powerful Notre Dame, ranked sixth, moves from its 34-7 victory over Air Force toward a date with the same UCLA Bruins.

Washington, upset victim of Oregon State, now has to beat Stanford to stay alive in the AAWU race.

Broncos Are Surprise of AFL Loop

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Praying Colonels of little Centre College down Kentucky way astounded the collegiate football world by beating mighty Harvard 6-0 in 1921.

Now, it may be the Praying Broncos of Denver who will surprise the American Football League.

Beaten in 14th straight games the Broncos opened the regime of new Coach Mac Speedie by whacking the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday 33-27 before 16,285 who, Speedie said, "sounded like 50,000 yelling for us."

And just as the Centre Colonels prayed before each game, so it will be for the Broncos from now on, Speedie said.

"We weren't praying for victory," Speedie said of the team prayer Sunday. "We asked for a spirit of unity, that we would look good and try to win."

The Broncos looked good all right. They came from behind a 13-12 halftime deficit and roared to a 33-13 lead in the fourth quarter on Lionel Taylor's sensational catch of Jack Lee's 39-yard pass as he fell into the end zone.

Three pass interceptions by Goose Gosnolin and Charlie Mitchell's 58-yard touchdown run helped in the Denver triumph.

"This was a victory by 34 players and four coaches and Jack Lee was the general," Speedie said.

The Buffalo Bills walloped the Houston Oilers 48-17 in Sunday's other AFL game for undisputed possession of first place in the Eastern Division with a 5-0 mark. The Boston Patriots, now 4-1, fell out of a tie by losing to the San Diego Chargers 26-17 Friday.

Matt Snell reeled off 163 yards in 26 carries to lead the New York Jets to a 35-13 trouncing of the Oakland Raiders Saturday night. Marshall Starks, a New York back, suffered a broken leg in a pileup during the second period.

Richardson Takes Blame for Foul-Up

By TOM PENDERGAST
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Reporters forced four men into corners Sunday: Two relief pitchers with so-so records, a big third baseman and a quiet second baseman.

"Poor Ken Boyer," said the second baseman, Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees. "He hit the ball pretty good, and it seems everyone's here."

Richardson was taking the blame for the fouled-up double-play attempt that led to the St. Louis Cardinals' 4-3 World Series victory on Boyer's grand slam home run.

In the Cardinal dressing room, Boyer hugged relievers Roger Craig and Ron Taylor, saying: "These are the guys who won the game."

Craig and Taylor, known more for giving up homers than for preventing them, had teamed brilliantly from the first inning to chop off the vaunted Yankee offense that had scored three runs in the first.

"That has to be the finest relief work we've had," said Cardinal manager Johnny Keane. "It couldn't be improved upon. Craig and Taylor were splendid."

"My curve was sweeping and my control was good," Craig said. "It has to be one of my best-pitched games — Certainly the most thrilling."

"Kenny (Boyer) told me as I came out of the bullpen that I ought to keep the ball low and fast," said Taylor. "I did, and I threw a few curves and sliders."

But I kept it low and no change-ups. It was the biggest thrill of my life to help win that game."

Boyer had slammed a high, inside change-up by Yankee loser Al Downing into the left field stands with the bases loaded in the sixth.

"You know," said Boyer, "when I rounded third on that homer, I was kind of looking for Clete (his brother, the Yankee third baseman) to say something. He didn't say a word, and I didn't think it my place to say anything. I looked right at him, and he had a sort of puzzled look on his face."

The man who threw Boyer's home run ball, the left-handed Downing, said Yankee catcher Elson Howard had called for a fast ball and he waved it off.

"I'd gotten Boyer twice before on fast balls," Downing said, "but in a situation like that, when you think the guy is anxious, you try to get him to hit a bad pitch. I was trying to set him up for something, but he got that inside change-up."

The man who set up the situation for Boyer's blast took it calmly.

Besieged by reporters, Yankee second baseman Richardson took all the blame for his error at second on what appeared to be an inning-ending double-play ball in the fateful Cardinal sixth.

"It was a ground ball hit to my right and I did not field it cleanly," Richardson said. "It got stuck in my web. As Phil (Linz, the shortstop) came across, I hesitated, throwing off his timing and when I threw it with my glove hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw."

"It was my fault all the way," Boyer's game-winning grand slam, only the ninth in World Series history, followed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has urged the Defense Department to "proceed without further delay to establish a medium altitude, random-orbit communications satellite system for operational use."

In a report issued Thursday, a military operations subcommittee each as Henderson came from behind to get its victory over Southern State.

Southern State scored early in the first quarter following a fumble recovery. After a Henderson touchdown John Flaherty kicked a third quarter, 23-yard field goal to put Southern State ahead 9-7. The final Henderson score came in the fourth period capping a 63-yard drive.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next year's income tax forms are going to be different — partly because of the 1964 tax cut law and partly to make it easier to feed facts into the Internal Revenue Service's new data processing machines.

IRS officials said principal changes include: In listing dependents, taxpayers will only have to give the number of children living at home — not their names.

The signature line will be moved back to the first page. Millions of taxpayers will receive their forms with their names, addresses and account numbers already stamped onto the first page.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law Thursday a two-year extension of the food for peace program, but said two provisions would be ignored because they are unconstitutional.

Johnson signed the measure in Indianapolis during a campaign tour.

The food for peace measure calls for a $3.5-billion program of surplus food sales and distribution abroad.

Millions of Words Sent to the AP

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A half a million words a day flow into Arkansas through the Little Rock Bureau of The Associated Press.

The bureau is one of more than 100 AP control points in the United States which keep state, regional and national news flowing in a never-ending cycle.

Twenty-four hours a day, every day in the year, AP teletype machines around the world move the news over leased wires to 1,700 U.S. newspapers, 2,000 broadcast stations, and to news media in other lands.

The AP has 7,500 employees in 80 nations. But since it is a co-operative organization, working with its member newspapers and broadcast stations, an estimated 100,000 newsmen work on the wire service's news report daily.

The Little Rock staff of 14 reports, writes and transmits Arkansas news throughout the state on a teletype network. Important Arkansas news is sent outside the state on regional and national wires.

And through the Little Rock staff, the first page.

bureau, national and world news is funneled into Arkansas, to 31 daily newspapers and 68 broadcast stations.

Chief of Bureau Thomas J. Dygard, a native of Little Rock and a graduate of the University of Arkansas, is in charge of the Arkansas AP newsgathering and writing operation. William E. Knox, traffic bureau chief, has charge of transmitting the news and maintaining teletype machines in member newspapers and broadcast stations.

Working with Dygard on the news side are news editor Wick Temple and staff writers John R. Starr, J.C. Tillman, Bill Simmons, Len Tallaferro and Alvin Schay. Starr is regularly assigned to the state capital to cover affairs of government.

Working with Knox are maintenance men Herman G. Smith and Robert G. Knox and teletype operators Mrs. Jeanette Moran, E.L. Pitts, Don Dashiell and Joe Finnegan.

Behind the AP staff are the staffers of AP member newspapers and broadcast stations in the state. They report news from their cities to The AP, which transmits it on wires to all other cities in Arkansas.

The bureau in Little Rock has a day office in the Arkansas Democrat Building and a night office in the Arkansas Gazette Building. The bureau is manned from 4:15 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily.

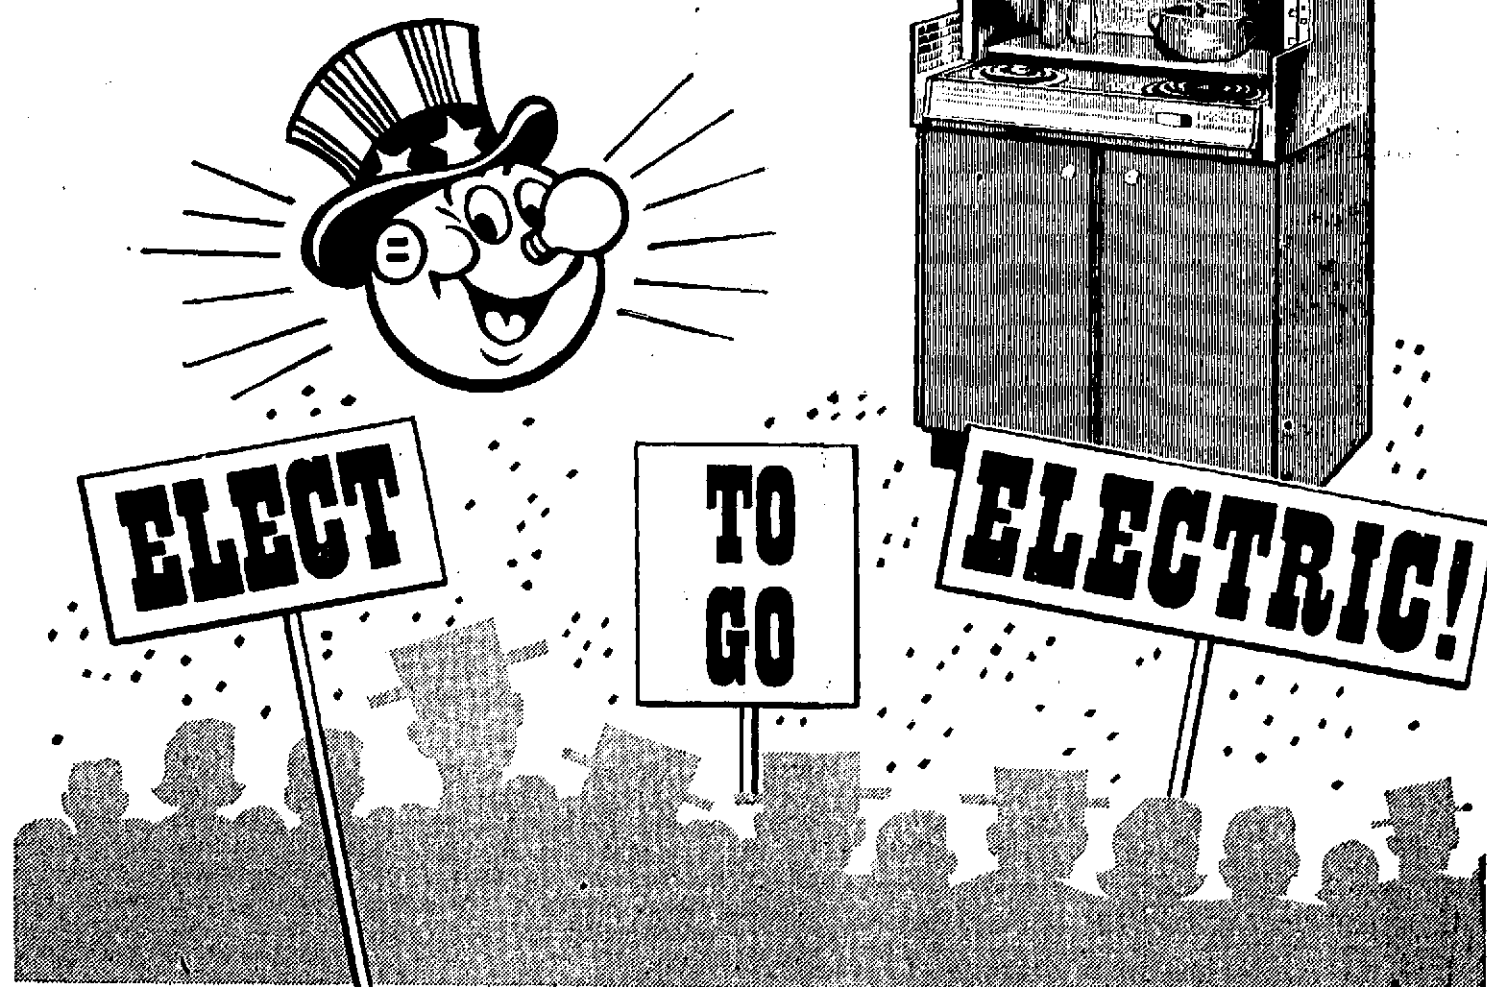

The bureau also handles photo coverage of Arkansas news and sends about 50 pictures a month on events in the state. There are two wirephoto transmitters in Little Rock, one in Jonesboro at the Jonesboro Sun office and one in Texarkana at the Texarkana Gazette-News.

Portable wirephoto transmitters can be taken to any point in the state and hooked up to telephone lines to transmit pictures of breaking news events.

Arkansas' AP photo transmitters are part of an international network of AP machines which send pictures of top news events to members in Arkansas and all other states.

Arkansas State Teachers pounced on winless Harding College Saturday, but could only score twice and the Bears defeated the Bisons 14-0 in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football.

In other AIC games Saturday night Arkansas A&M defeated Ouachita Baptist College 13-6; and Henderson defeated Southern State 4-9. Arkansas Tech beat College of the Ozarks 20-6 in a game Friday night.

The Bears picked up 320 yards total offense while holding Harding to 83. State Teachers penetrated within the Harding 30-yard-line several times.

Teachers' touchdowns came in the first and third quarters. Arkansas A&M halfback M.P. Blackburn led the way over Ouachita. He scored one touchdown on a 54-yard pass play and set up the other with a 34-yard punt return.

The Ouachita touchdown came with 27 seconds left in the game, capping a 10-play, 80-yard drive.

Henderson halfback Troy Tison and quarterback Larry Walker scored a touchdown

The Story: Each of the executives and associates of Hugo Sandor have contributed to the kidnap ransom and the total is $70,000 short of the quarter million dollars demanded.

 The others were almost finished. Craig brought the flimsy suitcase to his desk and opened it. He found rubber bands in a drawer and began dividing the bills into bundles. The others came to help him with that, then to pack the case. It was a tight fit. Landall and Craig together pressed the lid down and forcibly closed the clasps. The bulging case looked as if it might burst. Finally Craig gathered the sheets of foolscap, clipped them together and folded them.

"The rest of you go home. I'll stay here. Gail, would you mind staying in my apartment in case they call there?"

"Of course not, Dick, but Dad has my car."

"Allen, you'll take her there, won't you?" As Landall nodded, Craig fished his keys from his pocket — including the ignition key of the used car he hadn't seen yet — and passed them to Gail.

With the list of serial numbers in one hand, he lugged the case down the hallway, Landall following. The room in the rear corner on the bay side was used for storing photographic equipment, office supplies and film. A row of four tall metal cabinets, filled on the wall. They were constructed of fire-resistant, double-walled steel, like safes, they were fitted with bolts and pin-tumbler combination locks. Landall watched MADRID (AP) — High winds caused three deaths and knocked down chimneys, walls and radio and television aerials in Spain overnight.

When he jerked his head up, he had no idea how long the telephone bell had been ringing. He swung himself to a sitting position, still not knowing just where the clamoring bell was.

The building was dark. As he turned on lights, the continuing sound led him into the office where the money had been counted. The wall clock read 5:45.

"Dick, I have it!" it was Gail.

"Read it to me."

She was flustered, not the efficient Gail of the office. "The call came a few minutes ago. A man. He said to look in the mailbox of the vacant house two doors away. I went in the wrong direction the first time, then—"

"Gail! What does it say?"

"It's sort of complicated." She took hold of herself. "It says, 'So far you have behaved yourselves. Keep it up.'"

"They'd been watching all right. No more than two can come with money. Start before nine a.m. Drive to Estrella Island—"

Craig broke in. "Gail, I'll have to see that. So will the others. I'll phone them. Bring it over, will you?"

"Right away!"

NEW YORK (AP) — The people responsible for dreaming up magic tricks for ABC's beautiful witch, Samantha, in its new comedy, "Bewitched," will have to stretch their imaginations to the limits.

Samantha's greatest competitor is the nonwitchy American housewife — as portrayed by the advertising agencies in the cleaning commercials.

A week ago, for instance, Samantha casually turned an annoying character into a dog by a mere wiggle of her pert nose. But how about that housewife who merely looks at her children jumping on pogo sticks in her kitchen and they instantly turn into a bunch of leaping kangaroos?

Samantha can clean up the kitchen, including the dinner dishes, with a wave of her hand. But she doesn't keep a giant folded somehow in her washing machine, whose only apparent function is to occasionally stick up one arm and a box of detergent for the amazement of bystanders. And how about the ladies who just stand, looking happily surprised, while a little white cone busily whirls around the room making everything spotless?

Political themes are popping into the entertainment shows. E. G. Marshall of CBS' "The Defenders" will turn up Oct. 29 of fog, impressed all over again with the kidnapers vigilance, with their careful yet bold planning. Perhaps—as Lew Hedges had put it—too fancy, too bold? Had they actually arranged a rendezvous in broad daylight? It seemed too unlikely —but unlikely or not, something depended on the distance to Estrella Island, wherever it was.

That question could hang a few minutes. He dialed Sam Landall's number, then Sam Fergus's. Landall mumbled, still half asleep; Fergus was alert, having stayed awake. He told them he would give them the details after he had seen the note. Both said they would come immediately. Next Craig tried Bud's apartment. He hadn't expected Bud to bounce up, but it puzzled him that Dede didn't answer. After a fairly long try Craig gave it up and turned his mind back to the island named Estrella.

Boyer's Grand Slam Evens World Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It was Branch Rickey, now a consultant with the St. Louis club, who once said:

"Luck is the residue of desire."

The Cardinals must have a lot of desire because through the years they have had a lot of luck in World Series play.

It is this residue of desire that helped the Cards win the World Series in 1926, 1930, 1934, 1942, 1944 and 1946.

The 4-3 triumph over the New York Yankees Sunday which squared the 1964 World Series at two victories apiece demonstrated anew that the Cardinal luck — ballplayers call it "breaks" — is still holding out.

In Missouri, they are singing the praises of Kenny Boyer, whose grand-slam homer in the sixth inning overcame a 3-0 Yankee lead.

In Lakewood, Calif., and Toronto, Canada, they are rejoicing over the brilliant relief pitching of hometown heroes Roger Craig and Ron Taylor.

In Houston, they are happy over Johnny Keane, who is managing the heck out of the Cardinals, seeking his first world championship in his 27th year of managing.

But in New York, they will tell you that it took a break for the Cardinals to win the fourth game — a rare misdeed by the usually sure-handed Bobby Richardson on a sure-fire double-play ball that would have ended the inning without a score.

There were two runners on base with one out when Dick Groat hit a routine grounder to the right of second base. Richardson fielded the ball, tried to shovel it over to Phil Linz for what looked like the start of a twin killing.

Let Richardson explain what happened:

"It got stuck in my web. As Phil came across, I hesitated, throwing him off his timing and when I threw it with my gloved hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw."

Instead of the inning being over, the Cards had the bases loaded. Boyer unloaded them two pitches later with a smash into the left-field stands. Until then, young Al Downing had a three-hit shutout.

Thus, instead of the Yankees having a chance to end it at Yankee Stadium today, they must return to St. Louis Tuesday for a sixth game Wednesday, and perhaps a seventh game Thursday.

The Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre and the Cards' Bob Gibson, who clashed in the second game, renewed their rivalry in the fifth game.

Stottlemyre came out the winner in the first meeting, limiting the Cards to seven hits in an 8-3 triumph. Although he lost, Gibson was impressive, striking out nine in eight innings, permitting only two runs until he tired in the seventh.

Sunday's victory was credited to Craig, who handcuffed the Yankees with just two singles in 4-2-3 innings of relief pitching. The 33-year-old right-hander took over with one out in the first inning after the Yankees had raked starter Ray Sadecki for four straight hits.

Craig permitted a run-scoring single by Elston Howard, then allowed only one more while fanning eight before retiring for a pinch hitter in the sixth. Carl Warwick came through with a single, giving him three pinch hits so far for a share of that Series record, igniting the winning rally.

Taylor polished off the Yankees without a hit over the last four innings.

"I like our club's chances better now than I did at the start of the Series," said Keane. "Winning this game set us up good. Our pitching is set for the final games, even if it goes the limit of seven. I sure like the way we stand."

Keane admitted that Richardson's fumble of Dick Groat's grounder was the big break of the game.

U.S. Cagers, Swimmers Post Wins

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

TOKYO (AP) — A couple of Arizona girls, Jeanne Collier and Patsy Willard, grabbed the first U.S. medals of the Tokyo Olympics today and the Yankee basketball team continued to roll, but an upset and an injury produced two major disappointments.

Miss Collier, port 13-year-old high school student from Phoenix, won the silver, or second-place, medal in women's springboard diving, just edging out Miss Willard, from Mesa, who won the bronze.

"I don't know how I did it," the elated, 5-foot-1 Jeanne said. "I'm still too excited to talk."

The Americans' swimming and basketball teams continued to dominate their events as expected.

The basketball team, led by Jerry Shipp of Bartlesville, Okla., and Joe Caldwell of Arizona State University pounded Finland 77-51 for its second straight victory.

Shipp tossed in 18 points and Caldwell contributed 16 in the 40th straight U.S. basketball triumph since the sport was introduced in the 1936 Berlin Olympics.

The swimmers put the maximum three U.S. members in the semifinals of both the women's 100-meter freestyle and the men's 400-meter individual medley.

In the women's event, Australia's Dawn Fraser equaled her own Olympic record with a 1:00.6 but said she expected major difficulty from Sharon Stouder of Glendora, Calif.

Miss Stouder won her heat in 1:02.3, and joined Jeanne Halllock of Arcadia, Calif., and Kathy Ellis of Indianapolis, in the semis.

Carl Robie, 19-year-old University of Michigan student, had the fastest time in the 400-meter individual medley, 4:52 flat and moved into the semis with Roy Saari of El Segundo, Calif., and Dick Roth of Alhambra, Calif.

The big news for the United States on the second day of competition, however, was the silver medal by Miss Collier. She executed an extremely difficult reverse 1½ somersault with ½ twist on her final dive, moving from third to second place with a total of 138.36 points.

Miss Willard had 138.18 and Sue Gossick of Tarzana, Calif., was fourth with 129.70.

A pretty East German girl, defending champion Ingrid Kramer-Engel, won the gold medal with 145.0 points.

The major disappointments came in the form of an upset to welterweight boxer Maurice Friot, a prime gold medal prospect, and an ankle injury to distance-running sensation Gerry Lindgren.

Lindgren, an 18-year-old from Spokane who captured the track fancy of the nation with his exploits as a schoolboy, twisted an ankle while training. It was badly swollen just two days before he is scheduled to run in the 10,000 meters.

Friot, a Marine corporal from Denver, Colo., was floored three times for mandatory eight counts before losing a unanimous decision to Ernest Mabwa of Uganda. It was the major upset in boxing so far.

Figuring the World Series Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the Series:

Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle, who established a Series record by hitting his 16th homer Saturday, extended two more of his career marks Sunday. He walked twice and struck out once, lifting his Series totals to 11 bases on balls and 50 strikeouts.

Ken Boyer, whose bases-filled home run powered the Cards to the 4-3 victory, was the National League co-leader with Houston's Bob Aspromonte during the regular season. Each hit two grand slams, Boyer getting his off the Mets' Bill Wakefield on July 18 and off Philadelphia's Dennis Bennett July 25.

Winning pitcher Roger Craig collected his only other Series triumph while pitching for the Brooklyn Dodgers against the Yanks in the fifth game of the 1955 classic. He started and worked six innings in a 5-3 victory. Two days later, Johnny Podres blanked the Yankees, 2-0 for Brooklyn's first world championship.

Thirty-five years ago today the Philadelphia A's scored 10 runs in the seventh inning to overcome an 8-0 deficit and defeat the Chicago Cubs 10-8 in the fifth Series game.

Dick Groat and Tim McCarver of the Cards and Bobby Richardson, Elston Howard and Mickey Mantle of the Yanks have hit safely in each of the four games.

Marshall ran for 117 yards and threw six times to wingback Jim Lindsey, whose locomotive-like charges stretched the passing game to 85 yards.

Tailback Jack Brasuell punched out 104 yards on 32 carries, "the most of any player I have ever coached," Coach Frank Broyles said Sunday.

Lawrence Elkins, Baylor's talented flanker back, caught a short pass and worked his way past Ken Hatfield for the Bears' only score. Jim Finch got a hand and Charlie Daniels a finger on Baylor's extra point kick, knocking it down.

That preserved Arkansas' lead, 7-6. Brasuell had gone over from the one in the first quarter and Tom McKnelly kicked the extra point, his 13th straight this year, and Arkansas was ahead to stay.

McKnelly came back for a 32-yard field goal, the eighth in his career, and that game gave him the school record. The last touchdown was by Marshall on a dive from the one.

But it was a general combination of all these factors that gave Arkansas the victory: A defense that limited Baylor's vaunted passing, that shut down a surprisingly swift, agile and determined group of ball carriers, Marshall's hypnotizing bootleg keepers around end,
